The presenter's talk was consistent with the description of it on our website (or in publications).
I learned something significant from this program.
The audience showed interest in the topic as it was presented.
The program is consistent with UHC's mission and goals.
The presenter was adept in engaging the audience in discussion, not simply a Q & A session.
The audience continued to talk about the topic of this presentation after it was over (as they were leaving, in the foyer, etc.).
UHC's name and logo were on display at this presentation.
The program coordinator (or speaker) acknowledged UHC in the introduction.
I was able to engage members of the audience in conversation after this program to assess their response to it. (Please tell us what you learned below.)

What impact, if any, do you think this program had on the audience?
 How might this presenter have improved the chance for public dialogue about this topic?
