GRANTS AVAILABLE FOR PROGRAMS IN AMERICAN HISTORY

The Utah Humanities Council announces the continuation of an initiative called We The People. Funded by a special appropriation from Congress to the National Endowment for the Humanities, We The People supports programs that explore significant events, people, and themes in American history. The Utah Humanities Council invites grant proposals that focus on advancing the public's knowledge of America's past and the principles that define our nation.

Examples of projects that may fit UHC's criteria for a We The People grant include (but are not limited to):

- An exhibition, public lecture, symposium, or conference that explores any theme, event, or issue associated with American history and culture. Applicants should feel free to explore the full breadth of the American experience. Topics in social, political, and cultural history (immigration, ethnicity, popular entertainment, and race relations, for example) will be considered.
- Development and production of a documentary film on one or more aspects of America's past with a planned public screening.
- A program designed to give public audiences an historical explanation of the work of an American artist, author, or poet.
- A seminar or public lecture series that focuses on the place of Utah in the broader history of the United States.
- Proposals for We The People funding will be evaluated through UHC's established grant review process and must meet already established guidelines posted on UHC's website (www.utahhumanities.org/Grants.php). Funding may be sought through the Major Grant (Applications Deadlines are August 1, 2010; February 1, 2011), Quick Grant (No Deadline), or research fellowship application (Application Deadline is February 1, 2011) process.
- Any nonprofit organization, institution, or group, whether or not incorporated or tax-exempt, is eligible to submit a proposal for a We The People grant. Potential applicants include colleges and universities, libraries, museums, historical societies, professional associations, agencies of state and local government, community organizations, public radio and television stations, and ad hoc groups. Co-sponsorship by two or more organizations is encouraged. Funding through UHC (with the exception of the research fellowship programs) is not available to individuals.
- The Utah Humanities Council staff will be happy to advise you on completing the application process for a We The People grant, as well as to suggest appropriate scholars or other resources that may be useful to you. If you have an idea for a project that you think might qualify for a We The People grant or if you have questions, please feel free to contact Maria Torres at torres@utahhumanities.org or 801.359.9670 x105. For more information on the national We The People initiative sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities, consult the NEH's We The People website (www.wethepeople.gov).

LIGHTNING SPARKS FIRES ACROSS THE FISHLAKE

Thunderstorms that passed through central Utah over the past week were responsible for starting 15 fires, 10 of those on the Fishlake National Forest. Most of the fires were a tenth of an acre or less, with one called the Twitchell Canyon Fire being approximately 40 acres.

The Twitchell Canyon Fire is burning in mixed conifer, in steep, rocky terrain. The fire is located approximately 13.5 miles northeast of Beaver, Utah, and north of the Indian Creek Road near Manderfield Reservoir. The fire is being managed for multiple objectives including providing benefits to forest resources by reducing hazardous fuels and allowing fire to take its natural role in the ecosystem. Fire personnel are continuing to observe and evaluate fire conditions including rate and direction of spread, fuels, and weather.

To provide for public safety, the Indian Creek Road is closed to Manderfield Reservoir until further notice.

The Jensen Spring Fire, burning approximately 2.5 miles northeast of Monroe, Utah is also being managed for multiple objectives including returning fire to its natural role. Fire behavior has been reported as smoldering in sparse pinyon juniper.

As with all wildland fires safety of the public and firefighters is the top priority.

To report a wildland fire, call the Richfield Interagency Dispatch Center, (435) 896-8404.
