SUPPORTERS

We all know stories of discovery, good and evil, love, treachery, family, adventure, temptation, death, hope, and redemption. This is how we learn what it is like to be a human being; this is how we learn to BE a human being. As the sad cases of feral children demonstrate, your genes do not make you human. You have to learn that through the stories you are told. In a world that seems increasingly polarized and fragmented, stories offer the hope of unity. Support the Utah Humanities Council, read books, and try to find the universal human story within their pages.

– Mike Orenduff, Utah Humanities Book Festival author
