to de-stress yourself from the hectic you need to escape the stresses of life, the great tricks they do and talents they see lions roar and tigers jump through your age.
talented artists, acrobats and athletes puters, most things are made specifi-ing forward to.
ley Circus will gladly provide you with EnergySolutions arena for the upcoming Kimberly Golding, a Utah Valley Uni-leave you filled with wonder, no matter least, as it comes to Salt Lake City with all the high-flying quality entertainment on Earth: "Built to Amaze!" That's the philosophy of the Ringling Barnum and Bailey Circus, and the Ringling troupe is one of the featured performances in "Built to and actually came into being because of the circus. It began in 1918 when a young boy named Joe Gary joined the Troupe, and he's been touring since then. That introduction was all it took for Gary to be hooked.
"I think it's important to take a break me too. I've found interesting people of all nationalitogether, the unity, the timing, the fun, the excitement and the love bring to them," Gary said. "The comedy and high-speed agility we produce by being on an energetic and entertaining at the same time. I hope they gain the abilities and heart to it.' You can be successful at whatever you choose to do.
The King Charles Troupe now consists of 12 members who perform on uni-cycles up to 10 feet tall, bringing comedy and agility to the stage with grace of basketball, football and even jump rope on just one wheel.
Gary was introduced to the troupe by its leader, Kip Jones, a professional tiger trainer. "Tabayara Maluenda, a professional tiger trainer.
The King Charles Troupe is one of the featured performances in "Built to Amaze!" and actually came into being because of the circus. It began in 1918 when a young boy
named Joe Gary joined the Troupe, and he's been touring
since then. That introduction was all it took for Gary to be hooked.
"I think it's important to take a break
me too. I've found interesting people of all nationali-
together, the unity, the timing, the
fun, the excitement and the love
bring to them," Gary said. "The comedy
and high-speed agility we produce by
being on an energetic and entertaining
at the same time. I hope they gain the
abilities and heart to it.' You can be successful at
whatever you choose to do.
The King Charles Troupe now
consists of 12 members who perform on uni-
cycles up to 10 feet tall, bringing comedy and
agility to the stage with grace of
basketball, football and even jump rope on just one wheel.
Gary was introduced to the troupe by its leader, Kip Jones, a professional tiger trainer. "Tabayara Maluenda, a professional tiger trainer.
The King Charles Troupe is one of
the featured performances in "Built to Amaze!" and actually came into being because of the
circus. It began in 1918 when a young boy
named Joe Gary joined the Troupe, and he's been touring
since then. That introduction was all it took for Gary to be hooked.
"I think it's important to take a break
me too. I've found interesting people of all nationali-
together, the unity, the timing, the
fun, the excitement and the love
bring to them," Gary said. "The comedy
and high-speed agility we produce by
being on an energetic and entertaining
at the same time. I hope they gain the
abilities and heart to it.' You can be successful at
whatever you choose to do.
The King Charles Troupe now
consists of 12 members who perform on uni-
cycles up to 10 feet tall, bringing comedy and
agility to the stage with grace of
basketball, football and even jump rope on just one wheel.
Gary was introduced to the troupe by its leader, Kip Jones, a professional tiger trainer. "Tabayara Maluenda, a professional tiger trainer.
The King Charles Troupe is one of
the featured performances in "Built to Amaze!" and actually came into being because of the
circus. It began in 1918 when a young boy
named Joe Gary joined the Troupe, and he's been touring
since then. That introduction was all it took for Gary to be hooked.
"I think it's important to take a break
me too. I've found interesting people of all nationali-
together, the unity, the timing, the
fun, the excitement and the love
bring to them," Gary said. "The comedy
and high-speed agility we produce by
being on an energetic and entertaining
at the same time. I hope they gain the
abilities and heart to it.' You can be successful at
whatever you choose to do.
The King Charles Troupe now
consists of 12 members who perform on uni-
cycles up to 10 feet tall, bringing comedy and
agility to the stage with grace of
basketball, football and even jump rope on just one wheel.
Gary was introduced to the troupe by its leader, Kip Jones, a professional tiger trainer. "Tabayara Maluenda, a professional tiger trainer.