UBATC reaches enrollments record

By Terrill Morrell

Despite unrecorded budgets, the budget team of the Utah State Applied Technology College (USATC) completed work on the 2010-2011 fiscal year, and the first three months of the 2010 fiscal year show an increase in enrollments, enrollment numbers, and membership hours for the UBATC, representing a 10 percent increase in unregistered enrollments over the same period in the previous year. These students logged 646,000 membership hours and the first three months of the 2010 fiscal year show an increase in enrollments, enrollment numbers, and membership hours for the UBATC, representing a 10 percent increase in unregistered enrollments over the same period in the previous year. These students logged 646,000 membership hours and 4,000,000 total population hours in single projects.

“Statistically, the 2010-2011 year was our best year ever,” said UBATC President Shane Ivie. “We even see the same trend continuing in the past two years. We are very pleased that we have been able to continue to provide educational opportunities for our students. At the same time, we have had a large amount of growth in the 24-county service area, and at the same time, we have had a large amount of growth in the 24-county service area.”

Enrollments of Duchesne County has remained strong and enrollment numbers continue to increase and the college is working hard to continue to attract more students. Each district in the community is working to increase membership hours for the students. The college is working with the students to ensure that they are able to meet their goals and expectations. Each district in the community is working to increase membership hours for the students. The college is working with the students to ensure that they are able to meet their goals and expectations.

The UBATC/Duchesne County Community College is working hard to attract more students. Each district in the community is working to increase membership hours for the students. The college is working with the students to ensure that they are able to meet their goals and expectations. Each district in the community is working to increase membership hours for the students. The college is working with the students to ensure that they are able to meet their goals and expectations.

The UBATC/Duchesne County Community College is working hard to attract more students. Each district in the community is working to increase membership hours for the students. The college is working with the students to ensure that they are able to meet their goals and expectations. The UBATC/Duchesne County Community College is working hard to attract more students. Each district in the community is working to increase membership hours for the students. The college is working with the students to ensure that they are able to meet their goals and expectations.

For more information, contact Shane Ivie, president of UBATC, at 435-247-2419.

In a letter, Steve Hackett, director of the Utah Division of Water Resources, said the district is committed to using the factors in the water sharing plan to serve the needs of Utah’s employers and public officials. "We want you to know how proud we are of you and we are proud of UBATC," Hackett said. The UBATC provides the most comprehensive and aggressive technology colleges increases the enrollment opportunities for the students and the new building and new courses in order to compete in today's market. The UBATC provides the most comprehensive and aggressive technology colleges increases the enrollment opportunities for the students and the new building and new courses in order to compete in today's market.

In an effort to bring in national recognition, the college is working with the students to ensure that they are able to meet their goals and expectations. Each district in the community is working to increase membership hours for the students. The college is working with the students to ensure that they are able to meet their goals and expectations. Each district in the community is working to increase membership hours for the students. The college is working with the students to ensure that they are able to meet their goals and expectations. Each district in the community is working to increase membership hours for the students. The college is working with the students to ensure that they are able to meet their goals and expectations.

For more information, contact Shane Ivie, president of UBATC, at 435-247-2419.

The Utah Humanities Council is taking applications for grants that will provide funding for any special event, symposium, or conference that explores any theme, event, or topic. The grants are available to any organization, including libraries, museums, and schools, as well as any individual. Grants are available to any organization, including libraries, museums, and schools, as well as any individual.

The Utah Humanities Council is taking applications for grants that will provide funding for any special event, symposium, or conference that explores any theme, event, or topic. The grants are available to any organization, including libraries, museums, and schools, as well as any individual.

The Utah Humanities Council is taking applications for grants that will provide funding for any special event, symposium, or conference that explores any theme, event, or topic. The grants are available to any organization, including libraries, museums, and schools, as well as any individual.

The Utah Humanities Council is taking applications for grants that will provide funding for any special event, symposium, or conference that explores any theme, event, or topic. The grants are available to any organization, including libraries, museums, and schools, as well as any individual.

The Utah Humanities Council is taking applications for grants that will provide funding for any special event, symposium, or conference that explores any theme, event, or topic. The grants are available to any organization, including libraries, museums, and schools, as well as any individual.

The Utah Humanities Council is taking applications for grants that will provide funding for any special event, symposium, or conference that explores any theme, event, or topic. The grants are available to any organization, including libraries, museums, and schools, as well as any individual.

The Utah Humanities Council is taking applications for grants that will provide funding for any special event, symposium, or conference that explores any theme, event, or topic. The grants are available to any organization, including libraries, museums, and schools, as well as any individual.

The Utah Humanities Council is taking applications for grants that will provide funding for any special event, symposium, or conference that explores any theme, event, or topic. The grants are available to any organization, including libraries, museums, and schools, as well as any individual.

The Utah Humanities Council is taking applications for grants that will provide funding for any special event, symposium, or conference that explores any theme, event, or topic. The grants are available to any organization, including libraries, museums, and schools, as well as any individual.